FURTHER ACCOUNT.

TWENTY THOUSAND MEXICANS MARCHING TO MATAMORAS.

[From the Mobile Daily Advertiser Extra.]

BRASOS SANTIAGO, May 10.

Since my last (not received) we have had two arrivals, the New York and brig Millendon. The last brought the news that six steamboats with four thousand volunteers were about starting when she left. This news made us most cheerful, as we could not have then expected the result that has since taken place with our troops.

Despatches had been sent to Vera Cruz by Gen. T., contents to us unknown; but rumor would have it that the aforesaid Vera Cruz was to have been bombarded. Judge of our surprise, then, when at daylight on the morning after the whole squadron (Baltimore excepted) appeared off our harbor. The commodore had not received the despatches from her, but was informed at Vera Cruz that the Mexicans had marched 6,000 or 7,000 troops across by land to assist Gen. Arista in whipping Gen. Taylor.

Com. Connor, therefore, thought very wisely that his presence here would do some good in the way of reinforcements. Gladly was he welcomed, as Gen. Taylor had marched out the evening previous to meet and conquer the enemy, taking with him twenty-two hundred men, teamsters included, with two hundred and fifty teams loaded with ammunition, provisions, &c., which the Mexicans were no doubt apprized of, as the teams had been loaded ever since Monday last, awaiting the orders for a march at a moment's warning.

General T. had left Point Isabel with little over four hundred men to defend it. Major Munroe, commanding here, sent a requisition to Commodore Connor for as many men as he could spare, as we heard firing about 2 P. M., of the 8th, which continued with but little intermission until dark. Com. C. sent ashore 250 men, and on the 9th 400 or 500 more, which makes this place strong enough to withstand an attack against 20,000 men.

On the evening of the 8th, Mr. Murray and Mr. Bacon volunteered to go out and find out the result:

At 3 P. M. of the 9th, Messrs. M. and B. returned, and stated as follows:

They got to Gen. Taylor's present camp, sixteen miles from here, a S. P. M.; there learned that the army marched until about thirteen miles from here, when they saw the Mexicans drawn up in battle array across the road. He immediately gave his orders for the teams to halt until the 2d brigade had passed. The Mexicans were on the prairie near the edge of the chapparrel. When Gen. Taylor got within about three quarters of a mile, they opened upon him with their flying artillery. Gen. Taylor arrived with Capt. Duncan and Major Ringold's companies, and at it they went until about sunset, when the Mexicans had retreated to the edge of the chapparrel, and ceased firing.

After which, Gen. Taylor fired ten or fifteen guns at them, and set men to work throwing up two breast-works. At daylight the Mexicans were in the edge of the chapparrel. A council of war was held by Gen. Taylor, and it was agreed that one brigade should advance up to the chapparrel, in hopes to draw the Mexicans into a renewal of the fight, but the more the troops advanced upon them, the more they weren't there—the Mexicans having retreated, leaving three pieces of artillery, any quantity of ammunition, from FOUR TO SIX HUNDRED DEAD upon the field, and God only knows how many wounded they took away. One Mexican who was stationed at one of their batteries, says every body but himself at the batteries was killed—says the guns beat anything they ever dreamed of, they were so quick. One of the Mexican officers, in trying to rally his men, found he could not, and commenced to cut them with his sword, when his troops shot him dead. We had 11 killed, and about 10 mortally wounded.

Capt. Page, of the 3d, had all the lower part of his face shot off with a cannon ball—it is thought he will recover, though horribly mutilated. Major Ringold had the fleshy part of both his legs shot through, and horse killed—none of his bones broken, which is wonderful. Our informant says the field of battle was strewn with the dead, and they could hear the groans of the Mexican wounded, all night, at Gen. T.'s camp. The Mexicans were commanded by Gen. Mejia. There is no doubt they have retreated across the river. When the volunteers arrive you may depend you will hear of the "revelling in the halls of the Montezumas," or peace and good will will be whipped into these bombastic Mexicans.—It is a matter of surprise that so few were lost on our side.

One third of the whole number of the men from the squadron are marines, the balance tars. Yours, &c.

In the decisive battle, Gen. Taylor lost about sixty, killed and wounded, among whom there were three officers, viz: Lieut. Inges, of the dragoons; Lieut. Cochran, of the 4th infantry; and Lieut. Chadburn, of the 8th infantry. Among the wounded are Col MacIntosh, of the 6th infantry; Lieut. Col. Payne, 4th artillery; and Capt. Hooc, 5th infantry—most of them slightly, and none supposed mortally.

Major Ringold, well known as the commander of the flying artillery, also died on the 11th, from wounds received in the action of the 8th.

Capt. Page, who was wounded in the same engagement, we are happy to state, is rapidly recovering. Lieut. Luther, also slightly wounded, is convalescent.

[From the N. O. Tropic.—Third Edition 1 P. M.] STILL LATER FROM THE ARMY.

The Galveston is just in, having left Brazos Santiago on the evening of the 13th inst.

On the morning of the 13th, Gen. Taylor and his staff, with the guard that had brought down the train, &c., started for his camp. He was met by an express a few miles from Point Isabel, informing him that 8,000 fresh troops had arrived in Matamoras, 2,000 of which had crossed over, and 1,100 more had crossed the Rio Grande at Barrita, near the Boconchica, not more than 8 miles from Point Isabel. Gen. Taylor returned to Point Isabel at once, and made preparations to leave the next day, with such forces as were arriving.

The steamship Galveston landed 450 infantry, (regulars and volunteers;) the Augusta landed about 250; Capt Price arrived, via Padre island from Corpus Christi, with his company of 70 mounted rangers. They all reached the point on the 13th.—

Gen. McLaughlin and Jas. L. Day will doubtless land their troops, amounting to upwards of 800, at Point Isabel on the 14th.

Gen. Parades is at the head of 15,000 troops, on his way to Matamoras. It may possibly be that the fresh troops arrived at Matamoras, is the advance division of his army. No doubt that the enemy were fully advised that Gen. Taylor had left for Point Isabel, and their plan is to try and capture them on his return, whilst a strong force crossing above, is to come down upon his army.

The brave and gallant Major Brown died on —, from a wound received in his thigh by the explosion of one of the enemy's shells.

The strength of the fort and skill with which it is defended, is incomprehensible to the Mexicans; and indeed, well it might be, for they have thrown upwards of 1,400 shot and shells into the works, and every morning they present the same appearance; our loss has only been two or three in the fort. The constant practice the enemy have had in firing at it, has taught them the proper bearing to give to their guns, and almost every shot falls within the works. The fort is never idle, and the ramparts and dwellings of Matamoras exhibit ruin.

The sloop-of-war St. Mary's arrived from Pensacola on the 10th; the steamer Mississippi on the 12th, from Vera Cruz. The Bainbridge is off the Rio Grande, enforcing the blockade. The schooner Flirt sailed for New Orleans on the 7th.

It is stated that an expedition is to be sent, by boats of the squadron, to take the town of Barrita, 16 miles from the mouth of the river, where there is a military force.

Gen. Vega is the Col. Vega that was captured by the Texan forces at the slaughter of San Jacinto. He was also at the fall of the Alamo, and is a brave and accomplished officer.

BRAZOS SANTIAGO, May 13.

It now appears that the Mexicans had only five thousand men in the field at the first battle, and four thousand stowed away in the chapparel near the battle ground.— It was their intention to have made but a slight attack the first day, but being so closely pressed, they were obliged to fight in order to make good their retreat to where the four thousand were in the chapparel. In the first fight, a general officer had his head shot off; it is not yet ascertained who he was, as his body was recognized by his dress as he lay upon the field.

Gen. Taylor advanced the morning of the first battle into the chapparel, then sent 800 picked men under the charge of Capt. McCall, to reconnoitre; he advanced unmolested until near 3 P. M. (the army following at a distance,) when Capt. McCall sent word to Gen. Taylor that he had received a charge of grape from the enemy, and lost two men.

The army was then deployed, and Capt. May, 2d dragoons ordered to charge the battery that had thrown the grape, and to take it if he lost every man; he obeyed orders, took the battery of four guns, and lost but one man. The battery was commanded by Gen. de la Vega, who was taken prisoner.

Our little army then rent the air with their hurrahs, and rushing shouting upon the enemy, committed the most dreadful havoc among them, taking eight pieces of artillery, 155,000 rounds of cartridge, and 500 packed mules. General Arista's camp bedstead contained all his private and public baggage papers, which latter will be of great value, as we now have the key of the whole campaign, which will enable Gen. Taylor to form his plans so as to entirely defeat their designs.

We took all and every thing they had, four hundred prisoners and the army baggage. The enemy had between 8,000 and 9,000 troops in the two battalions, but we with 1,800 troops completely routed them.

We exchanged prisoners, got Captains Thornton, Hurle, and his little band. Our officers while prisoners, were well treated, having lived with Ampudia ever since they were taken. Gen. Taylor would not exchange for Lieut. Deas as a prisoner of war, as it would be sanctioning his crossing the river, which he did not, having repudiated his crossing in the severest manner.

In this second and glorious battle, we lost about the same number of men as in the first, but had more officers wounded. Capt. Walker with his heroic band of rangers, was the last that fired at the Mexicans. The army left him and his comrades on the bank of the river, shooting them as they attempted to cross.

To-morrow General Taylor leaves here to make an attack on Matamoras, in connexion with Com. Conner, who has sent a boat expedition up the river.

I forgot to mention that General Taylor arrived here yesterday, with all our wounded, between 50 and 60, with General Romulus de la Vega, one Mexican captain and two lieutenants, who go with this letter in the Col. Harney.

The Augusta, from New Orleans, arrived last evening. The mules from Matamoras, some 500, were sent in to day, as well as the Mexican wounded. I should not forget to mention that all the shell, ball, and grape shot of the Mexicans are made of brass or copper. This letter I must close, with details of glory enough for one day.

NEWPORT DAILY NEWS.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1846.

At the time of our paper going to press, half past 5 o'clock, we were without a Mail from New York, the boat not having arrived. If we get any further news from the seat of War when the Mail does arrive, we shall immediately issue a Second Edition.

THE WAR NEWS.—The accounts which we have thus far received from the seat of war, may be substantially correct. But, in all probability, in the haste with which such intelligence is always communicated, there is reasonable ground to believe that the accounts are somewhat exaggerated.— It will be some days before the official returns can be received at Washington, and, in the mean time, there will be all kinds of reports and rumors in circulation. In this last battle, we have lost two brave and accomplished officers, Majors Brown and Ringold. They have rendered distinguished service thus far in the war, and fell in their country's defence. The account which we published yesterday, from the Gazette Extra, stated that Lieut. Luther, among others, was killed in the engagement. This is a mistake.—he was wounded, but was convalescent, when the boat, bringing the news, left Point Isabel. Lieut. Luther was stationed at Fort Adams, in this harbor, about two years ago, and has many warm friends in this community.

We are informed by Lieut. CORNELL, Commander of the Revenue Cutter Jackson, stationed at this port, that he has received orders from the Treasury Department, to have the Cutter in complete order, to sail at a moment's notice, for any distant point, should her services be required. Lieut. Cornell further informed us that he received his orders yesterday morning, and that this vessel will be ready to-night, or to-morrow morning, for further orders.

The Court of Common Pleas, Chief Justice DUNFEE presiding, commenced its May session, in Providence, yesterday morning.

It is said that the President has granted a free and unconditional pardon to Babe, the pirate, who was convicted three years ago, of piracy and murder, on board the schooner Sarah Lavinia.

We sold an edition of one thousand copies of the News, yesterday morning. Our paper was for sale in the streets, before the New York mail arrived, and before any of the city papers were here.

A Judge in Kentucky has decided that a dandy is a nuisance.

BELLEVUE HOUSE.—We stated, several days ago, when speaking of Newport as a fashionable watering place, that we should have something to say about the new Hotels, at a future time. We now propose to give a sketch of these Houses, as fast as they are opened for summer visitors,—not pretending to classify them according to their merits, for we know no distinction among them—they are all of the first class.

During the last Winter, the Bellevue House has been very much enlarged and improved, and is now open for the reception of company. It is beautifully located, in the most fashionable and healthy part of the town, and is surrounded by large and beautiful shade trees. It is 175 feet front, with a wing 90 feet long, and 30 feet wide, the first floor of which is used as a dining hall. The main parlor, on the first floor, in the front of the house, is 63 feet by 20 feet, and is furnished in a style of elegance, which is pleasing to the eye, but still not gaudy or extravagant. There are 25 private parlors, with lodging rooms attached. The whole number of lodging rooms is about 160, and the house can accommodate 250 persons, with perfect ease, and, in case the town is very full, many more can be provided for, by economizing room a little. The halls run the whole length of the house, in all four of the stories, and through the wing, commencing there in the second story. The accommodation for private servants, white and colored, in the attic, in separate halls, is excellent. There is a very large reservoir in the attic, kept constantly filled with water, which is forced up by a steam engine on the first floor of the house; there is also a large quantity of hose, attached to the engine, which can be led to every part of the house, in case of fire.

The cooking apparatus, in the kitchen, is of the most substantial and convenient pattern that we have ever seen. It certainly could not be surpassed.

A portion of the former house has been removed to the opposite side of the street, and fitted up in good style, as lodging apartments, with parlors. There is a reading room on the first floor, and a pleasant piazza extending around three sides of the building. The rooms here are more retired than in the main building, and will suit those who visit Newport for health and quiet, rather than pleasure and excitement. There is another building, a few feet from this, which is also arranged with lodging apartments, similar to the last named.

There are many other conveniences and attractions to this establishment, which we have not time to mention, and which, perhaps, it is unnecessary to call public attention to,—as we have already said enough to recommend the house to the most fastidious. The tables will be filled with the richest viands of the season, and with the best the market affords.

Messrs. Hazard & Armstrong are the hosts of Bellevue Establishment, and they are indefatigable in their exertions to make their house comfortable, agreeable and desirable to all those who visit Newport, during the summer months. The house is under the general charge and superintendence of Mr. Stanton Peckham, of this town, who was its clerk last summer. To those who know Mr. P. personally, or who became acquainted with him there last year, it would be a work supererogative, to say anything in his praise. To those who do not know him, we have only to remark, he is a perfect master of his business; polite, gentlemanly, and attentive, ready and determined to perform his whole duty to all,—and when he says a thing, he means it. Our word for it, he will never swerve, and none know him but to like him.

There is an extensive Livery Stable attached to the premises.

SUDDEN—THIS LADIES.—An old gentleman who has dabbled all his life in statistics, says he has never heard of more than one woman who insured her life. He accounts for this by the singular fact of the questions on every insurance paper, "What is your age?"

To cure your love for one girl, just fall in love with another.—Exchange.

That's as "true as preaching."—We know, because we have tried it.

A lady in Boston, the other day, in passing down Beacon street, had her light dress caught by a nail in a plank, which a laborer was removing. The latter did not hear the appeals of the lady until the dress was torn almost completely off, and revealed to the astonished spectators the well known commercial phrase, "Prime Old Java," written on the skirt underneath. The lady took the first cab.

THE OLDEST BIBLE.—Mr. Joseph J. Mickley, of Philadelphia, has a German Bible, that was printed at Nuremberg, by John Sensenschmidt and Andrew Frisner, in 1475. The book is a splendid folio, once owned by the Duke of Sussex. It is a perfect copy, beautifully printed, with rich illuminations wrought with the pen and brush, and although but thirty-five years after the discovery of printing, is the fourth edition.

A culprit being asked what he had to say why sentence of death should not be recorded against him, replied, "I have nothing to say, as too much has been said about it already."

That's what I call a real finished sermon, remarked a man as he was coming out of church. "Yes, finished at last," replied his neighbor, "tho' I began to think it never would be."

Religion consists not in vain efforts to explain unspeakable mysteries, but in purity of heart, exalted by pious feelings, and manifested by virtuous conduct.

"Don't be in a hurry—keep your seat," when addressed to a visitor in an editor's office means "clear out as fast as you can."

WM. A. JUDSON.

A valuable invention—A Sovereign remedy—a sure protection against Mosquitoes and other poisonous insects.

RADWAY'S CHINESE MEDICATED SOAP, may truly be said to be one of the most valuable, as well as the most scientific and useful invention for the health, comfort, and convenience of the human family, that mankind has ever been blessed with. As an alleviator and preventor of pain, or irritation occasioned by the bites or stings of Mosquitoes, or other poisonous insects, this invaluable Soap is indeed a treasure. By applying it to the parts affected, it immediately abstracts the poison, allays the irritation, and protects the sufferer from all further annoyance from these troublesome insects.

TO THE LADIES.
We would particularly recommend this inestimable Soap to their notice. It is equally adapted to all toilet purposes, and is far superior, as a purifier of the skin, to all Powders, under whatever name they may be called, as it is for medicinal applications; for while it softens and beautifies the complexion, it removes every vestige of Tan, Pimples, Blisters, Pustules, and all other blemishes of the skin, and, in fact, all cutaneous eruptions. No lady's toilet is complete without this valuable Soap; and no other article of the Toilet is required, when you have this in your possession. None are so beautiful, but what this Soap will improve. The Great English Physician.
AMONG the many eminent Physicians, whose names have been recorded in history, and handed down to posterity as skillful operators and scientific practitioners, who by their extraordinary knowledge of Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, and the Materia Medica, there is not one who occupies a more elevated station in the eyes of his professional brethren, than the GREAT ENGLISH PHYSICIAN, SIR ASTLEY COOPER, the original inventor of Sir Astley Cooper's PILLS. These truly celebrated Pills, unlike all other purgatives in the form of Pills, do not debilitate or weaken the patient, while under their influence, neither do they gripe, or produce sickness, or nausea. In cases of Cholic, Biliousness, Fever, and Ague, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Worms, Piles, Gravel, Coughs, Colds, Influenza, and all diseases arising from change of climate; temperature of weather, imperfect tone of the stomach, or imperfection of the Broom, these valuable Pills are the most efficacious medicine in the world. Where these Pills are used, no other medicine is required. The Sir Astley Cooper's Pills are sold at 25 cts. per box, with full directions, by

Newport Photographic Depot. R. J. Union Bank Buildings, Thames street. THE Subscriber would respectfully give notice to the Ladies and Gentlemen of this place and vicinity, that he has taken and refitted the rooms formerly occupied by him, in the P. Union Bank Buildings, for the purpose of executing MINIA-TURES by the Daguerreotype Process. Having but a short time since returned from New York, with all the latest improvements, he feels confident that he can give those that will honor him with a call, a miniature superior in tone, and finish, to any ever before offered to the public, and prices that cannot fail to please.

None know how to appreciate these Miniatures, until they are called to part with a near relation, or an intimate friend, when perhaps it may be too late, to catch the light ere their shadowy fades; therefore, those that wish a correct likeness, as well as a fine picture, of themselves, or friends, will do well to give an early call.

Any person having fine Paintings, Portraits, or Miniatures, can have them copied with great accuracy.

These Miniatures can be set in Lockets, Pins, Frames, Cases, &c., to suit the purchaser.

Persons sitting for a Miniature at these rooms, is warranted a perfect Likeness, or no charge.

Miniatures can be taken as accurate in cloudy weather, as in pleasant, between the hours of 8 A. M. and 4 P. M. WILLIAM A. JUDSON.
